Avalanches and remote trigger

Date
Tue, 01/31/2023 - 15:00
Activity
Snowmobiling

As we rode into Lionhead we saw many slides that either ran naturally or from cornice falls. Most of the slides happened Fri or Sat. Winds are blowing strong at all aspects and elevations. Slopes are being loaded further and we triggered a small slide (video) from 50 feet away (aka remotely triggered). This is a serious sign of instability and we were careful to not get on or underneath avalanche terrain.

Region
Lionhead Range
Location (from list)
Lionhead Ridge
Observer Name
Doug Chabot