

Buck Ridge

Date

Sun, 03/16/2025 - 16:25

Activity

Snowmobiling

Up to a foot of soft snow which seemed to have included a few inches from last weekend. Winds were transporting snow across Buck Ridge all day long.

We triggered two small and shallow wind slabs that didn't go anywhere, but they were a warning of bigger wind slabs on bigger slopes. We didn't find any faceted or weak layers of concern deeper in the snowpack.

Wind slabs will grow in size overnight and will be the main concern tomorrow. Fortunately they will be easy to see and avoid.

Region

Northern Madison

Location (from list)

Buck Ridge

Observer Name

Staples and Gerardi