

The angle at the crown was 37 degrees. The hard slab was 2 feet thick of wind-blown snow, It appeared to be skier triggered earlier in the day. The circle is Chabot digging the snowpit. The profile can be found on the Snowpit page in "Resources". Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region
Cooke City

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Tue Mar 1, 2011
Cooke City, 2011-02-27